JONES FOR CHAIRMANSHIP.

Of the Next Democratic National Convention.

IMPORTANT CAMPAIGN CH NGES

A Bill Granting a Pension to Lieutenant Brumby's Mother Will Pass Both Houses of Congress.

Special to the TELEGRAM.

Washington, Jan. 25—The mention of the name of Senator Martin in connection with the national chairmanship is said to be without the knowledge or consent of the senator. No one in Washington has any doubts but that Senator Jones, of Arkansas, will again head the national democratic committee, and no one will be a more loyal supporter of the Arkansas Senator than Mr. Martin. There is no doubt but Mr. Jones will have the support of the Virginia delegation to the national convention for the chairmanship, and the delegates from other southern states will also support him. This information is gained from frequent talks with the members of Congress from Virginia, North Carolina, and other southern states.

That the Arkansas Senator will seek the chairmanship is not now open to doubt. The health of the senator, which was the only consideration which might have lead him to withdraw as a candidate for the honor of leading the democracy has much improved, and the senator does not hesitate to announce that he will seek to lead his party again.

It was learned at the capitol Wednesday that some important changes in the campaign are in contemplation. Among other things it is said that the democrats will follow the example set by the republicans in the matter of having a strong press bureau. The press bureau will be under the management of a well known and strong newspaper man, probably some one who has had much experience as Washington correspondent. The financial bureau of the Democratic national committee will also be strengthened, so it is said.

Senator Pritchard has made favorable reports to the senate upon several pension bills, in which North Carolina is interested. Among them are bills granting a pension to John Bailey; a bill granting a pension to Silas B Hensley; a bill granting a pension to Jennie A. Kerr; and a bill granting an increase of pension to John McGrath. All of the beneficiaries are residents of the state of North Carolina.

It will be pleasing to learn in the south, that the bill to grant a pension to Mrs. Brumby, mother of the late Lieut. Brumby, who was flag lieutenant of Admiral Dewey, and who distinguished himself at the battle of Manila is in a fair way to be passed through both houses of congress at the present session of congress. It is not usual for the senate committee on pensions to report a bill unless one year has elapsed between the death of the soldier, and the filing of the application. In this case, however, owing to the distinguished and important services rendered the country by Lieutenant Brumby, this rule was waived, and the measure was reported with a favorable recommendation. The credit for this result is largely due to Senator Taliaferro, the new senator from Florida, who has personally looked after the pension for Mrs. Brumby.

Petitions continue to be received by southern senators and members of the house urging the passage of the bill for the reclassification, and equalization of the salaries of the letter carriers. Many such petitions have been received from North Carolina and Virginia.

Senator Wetmore the other day reported from the committee on library a bill to carry into effect two joint resolutions of the Continental Congress, directing monument to be erected to be erected to the memory of Generals Francis Nash and William Lee Davidson, of North Carolina.

Star service has been established in North Carolina from Venus to Obids.

SUPERINTENDENT MEBANE

To the county superintendents:

Dear Sir—I refer you to the following words of section 39 of the school law, last part: "The county superintendent of schools shall hold his examinations publicly, and may invite competent persons to assist him in such examinations. He shall keep a copy of all examination questions, both public and private, and shall forward copies of the same to the state superintendent upon request."

In accordance with this law, I hereby request you to send me the set of questions used last October, and a set you have used for a private examination.

You will please mark each set distinctly, so I can see at once which was the private examination and which was the public examination.

It gives me pleasure to say that most of the county superintendents are punctual in complying with my requests made from time to time, but some few have been somewhat remiss in this respect. I wish to refer those who have been negligent to the words of the law quoted above: "shall forward," etc.

The reason I wish to have these questions is I want to see what standard of scholarship is required by the different county superintendents in the various counties throughout the state.

Hoping to have a prompt response from all the counties.

I am yours truly,
C. H Mebane,
Supt. Public Instruction.

Noted Moonshiner Dead.

Jim Smith, the noted moonshiner of Stokes county, has made his last moonshine whiskey, killed his last man, made his last raid on moonshiners. He died last week from the effects of strong drink which he has used from young manhood. He was about 45 years old when the summons came.

It is said he was the first man who ever made moonshine whiskey in Stokes, and a man greatly feared by all classes of people, although if treated kindly was always kind in return.

It is remembered that a few years ago Smith made himself famous by turning against the moonshiners of his section and accepting a position as revenue officer and distinguished himself on several occasions, notably in the killing of the Jordans at Kernersville a few years ago. It will be remembered that he searched the house and came in contact with Banner Jordan, who began firing on him. Smith returned the fire, killing Jordan and his father, but not without being wounded himself. It is said that he carried more lead in his flesh than any man who ever lived in Stokes having been shot at least twenty times.

The Greensboro Smallpox.

The Norfolk Landmark says:

"We would be glad to say to our contemporary, the Raleigh Morning Post, that the Post's editorial of Sunday with regard to the condition of affairs at Greensboro has been forwarded to our Richmond correspondent. We are now awaiting his reply, and if we have wronged Greensboro, we shall be glad to publish a corrected statement. It is not often that our Richmond representative, who is one of the most experienced newspaper men in the state, gets the facts twisted; and if he ever does, it is hardly necessary to affirm that his error is altogether innocent."

We very cheerfully exhonorate both the Landmark and its correspondent, the only error made by the correspondent, and as we now understand matters a natural one, being his statement that there was an epidemic of smallpox at Greensboro. Otherwise the correspondent was correct, as the Post subsequently published, and we make the amende. The Richmond physicians were called for to assist in vaccination to prevent the spread of the disease, which so far is only developed in less than a score of cases, and these not at all serious.—Morning Post.

Presson-Boone Marriage.

Last night at the home of the bride, on the corner of College and Elizabeth streets, at 8:15 o'clock, Miss Lizzie Presson was married to Mr. C. A. Boone, of Asheville. The ceremony was performed by Dr. H F. Chreitzberg. It was a quiet home wedding. After the marriage an elaborate supper was served. At 9:20 the young couple left for New York on a bridal tour. The bride is well known in Charlotte. She has made many friends by her sweet disposition and gentle manners. The groom is a very popular young man.—Charlotte Observer.

"Impressions of the South."

This is the season when northern papers give prominence to "Impressions of the south" from the pen of some new visitor who confuses Savannah with Charlotte, North Carolina with South Carolina, talks nonsense about the eight box or ten box ballot law, the Jim Crow car, slavery, old southern homes and the moss of the trees, speaks of the "native" as a curiosity and the negro as a prodigy and makes himself ridiculous generally.

GOOD ROADS IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Prof. Holmes Will Speak on This Subject Tonight.

Prof. J. A. Holmes, of Chapel Hill, stopped in Charlotte last night on his way to Columbia, S. C., where he will deliver a lecture tonight, before the house of represenatives on the subject of road building. The speech will be made in respons to a request from the legislature.

Prof. Holmes spoke very hopefully of the road question in this state, which he said was receiving careful attention in every county.

"The people are tired of piddling," said he. "They see the vital importance of good roads, and they are beginning to find that the only way to get them is to levy taxes and use the county's money and convicts.

"It is also to be noted," he continued, "that the mining developments in this state are on a better basis than for the past ten or fifteen years. At present there is very active and profitable work in the mining of iron, mica, corundum and kaolin."—Charlotte Observer.

TO PREVENT IT.

Every Effort to be Made to Keep Out the Smallpox.

Fayetteville and Jamestown have quarantined against Greensboro. Durham quarantines against Guilford, includes includes in the quarantine, as we take it, the town of Greensboro, and also quarantines against Surry county, N. C., and Halifax county, Virginia.

Policemen will meet every train arriving in Durham from places where smallpox is known to exist, and cause all who have not provided themselves with a certificate from a reputable practicing physician or an affidavit sworn to before an officer authorized to administer an oath, to return to the place from whence they came.

As smallpox is spreading throughout the country in various counties and towns, the board of aldermen of this city very wisely decided to prevent if possible the introduction of the disease here Every precaution will be taken and a sharp lookout will be maintained to keep it away from Durham.—Durham Sun.

For Brother Bill.

A fire-eater from North Carolina who served with more or less distinction in a volunteer regiment stationed at Havana, secured an honorable discharge recently and accepted a position in this city The climate here proved too chilly for his wardrobe, so he purchased an entirely new outfit and decided to sell the creations of his North Carolina tailor. He sent all of the clothing he proposed to sell to a French cleaner, who fixed them up in good style for $12.75. Then he sent for a dealer in second-hand clothes. The dealer offered him $5 50 for the lot. With typical North Carolina profanity the ex-soldier shipped the lot home to be cut down for his brother Bill.—Philadelphia Record.

Something of a Shock.

Yesterday afternoon a gentleman who lives in Greensboro was walking up South Elm and a short distance in front of him was a dudish consequential looking chap, a stranger, strolling along in a leisurely way. Behind the stranger was a colored boy of ebon hue. The Greensboro man did not fancy the looks of the self-important stranger, for as he passed the ebon youth he decided to give the dude a shock, so he called out loud enough to be heard, "see here nigger, aint you got the smallpox?" The stranger gave one frightened look around and started off at a 2:40 gait. When last seen he was turning into West Marketstreet. The little darkey saw the joke and enjoyed it.

Tit For Tat.

A former commohore captain of a famous trans Atlantic line, while friendly and polite to his passengers when below, was very much the reverse if approach on duty. As he happened to be on deck one fine afternoon, a lady, quite unaware of this peculiarity, accosting him with some trifling query as to the probable duration of the favorable weather, was both surprised and indignant to get curtly answered:

"Don't know, ma'am—don't know. Better go and ask the cook."

The lady, though taken somewhat aback, was quite equal to the occasion, and rejoined:

"Oh, I beg a thousand pardons. Excuse me, pray. I thought I was addressing the cook!"—Collier's Weekly.

WARREN CAPTURES SPION KOP

Great Rejoicing In England Over the News

MAJ. CHILD AMONG THE KILLED.

The Boers Will Attempt to Recapture the Heights—Detailed Story of the Battle.

By Cable to the TELEGRAM

Spearman's Camp, Jan. 25—General Warren carried Spion kop by storm Tuesday night. The Boers made a desperate attempt to recapture the position, and all day the battle raged in fury. Warren's loss was heavy. General Woodgate was badly wounded.

Warren's left flank began the attack, slowly fighting his way to the itsposition held by the Boers. The field artillery supported Warren. The kopje was finally taken by the South African Light Horse, who rushed up an exceedingly precipitous slope on the last short stretch. The British infantry now occupy all the strong positions. Warren believes the Boer position beyond Spion kop untenable.

London, January 25—Jubilation over Warren's victory, chastened by the realization of his success, is only provisional, as it appears clear from Buller's dispatch that the Boers recognize the strategeal importance of Spion kop, and that at the time the message was sent they had not abandoned the idea of recapture. Nevertheless a heavy load of anxiety has been removed from the nation, and the general expectation is that as the British succeeded in keeping the hill all day long, they will manage to hold it.

"Spearman's Camp, Jan. 23, 9:30 p. m.—The battle continues today. The infantry fire is concentrated on the crest of the hill near the centre, and the Boers are holding the corresponding crest across the valley. Virtually, it is an artillery bombardment. The Boers are replying occasionally, moving their guns when they are located by the British, but seldom firing more than three shots at one place. The corps of stretcher-bearers, raised by Maj Stuart Wortley, behaved well during the fighting, after volunteering to bring in the wounded under a heavy fire Casualties yesterday included Capt. Raitt, Queen's Own, killed; Capt. Warden and Lieutenants Smith and Dubison severely wounded. The Boers raised the white flag to the summit of a high hill but both sides continued fighting.

"Jan 20—Maj. Childe, with the South African horse, climbed the steep hill. Private Tabin got up to the summit ten minutes before the rest, and began waving his hat, thus drawing the enemy's fire. Lord Dundonald reinforced Maj Childe The Boers continued shelling. Maj. Childe had a strong presentment that he would be killed and asked his brother officers to put the following words over his grave: 'It is well with the Child—It is the child. It is well.' This was done. Lord Dundonald read the funeral service over the remains.

"Lord Dundonald says the Colt guns were very effective and the Boers could not face this fire.

"There are rumors of an engagement at Acton Homes. The Natal carbineers, sixty men, mounted rifles, were with the Imperial Light Horse"

THE DEAD BROUGHT HOME

But the City of Peskin May Not Be Permitted to Land Her Cargo.

San Farnciseo, Jan 24—The transport City of Pekin arrived today with the bodies of 156 dead soldiers. It is doubtful if the authorities will permit the bodies to be landed, as some of the men died of contagious diseases. During the voyage Naval Commander Carlin died His body was embalmed and brought home. The vessel also has on board several naval officers and 176 convalescents, discharged soldiers and prisoners from the army corps.

Obliterating the Past.

Washington, Jan 24—The house committee on pensions today directed a favorable report on the bill making service in the Spanish-American war sufficient to remove disabilities against those who aided and abetted southern troops during the war between the states so far as drawing pensions is concerned. The bill is intended to apply particularly to the parents of those serving in the war with Spain.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. Geo. D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle-working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, rundown people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

POPULIST NATIONAL COVENTION.

Senator Butler Calls It to Meet in Lincoln Next Month.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Senator Butler, of North Carolina, the chairman of the peoples party, tomorrow will issue a call for a meeting of the national committee of that party at Lincoln, Neb The date has not yet been definitely settled, but will be about the 15th or 20th of next month. The committee will decide upon the time and place of the next populist national convention. Senator Butler says there is no significance in the selection.

"I asked the members of the national committee," said he today, "Where they would like to meet, and I felt bound, of course, to abide by their desire. There was no majority vote for any one place, but the plurality vote was in favor of Lincoln, I think this is due to the fact that the populist state committee sent out word that they would be glad to entertain the committee there"

The action of the populists, it is learned, is without the knowledge of Mr Bryan It is said that the first intimation of the proposed action will come to him when he reads the call which is to be issued today.

A majority of the national committee, it is learned, now favors holding the populist convention some time in May or early June, in order that Bryan may be nominated before the democratic convention is held. No consideration has yet been given as to his running mate upon the ticket.

COL. BRYAN IN NEW ENGLAND.

Touches a Responsive Chord in Denouncing Trust.

Stamford, Ct., Jan. 24—Col. Wm. J. Brayn arrived at Stamford this morning. He was met by a delegation and taken to the town hall. The hall was crowded and when the orator entered there was some applause, but no serious enthusiasm manifested. His views were most radical on the old theme of silver and 16 to 1. He denounced the fighting in the Philippines, saying the United States had no right to land and make slaves of those islanders as it was doing, since "all men were created free and equal."

The republican party was responsible for the great monopolies and trusts, he contended. He spoke for nearly an hour.

THURSDAY, JAN. 25, 1900.

It is with much pleasure that we note the sensible way in which our citizens view the smallpox situation. Business goes on just the same. Reports of anxiety and excitement come from elsewhere. The fact that every case has been of the mildest type and our fatalities have shown that there is no occasion for alarm. The proper authorities are quietly at work vaccinating and disinfecting, thereby reducing the danger of contagion to the minimum.

General Buller's plan of a night attack on the Boers is in accordance with the ideas of modern warfare as laid down recently by an eminent authority on this subject. In connection with this it is said after the federals had been repulsed at Fredericksburg, that Stonewall Jackson insisted on a night attack—asked his surgeons how many white bandages could be had as he wished his men to wear them on their arms in order to distinguish them from the enemy. His generals, however, persuaded him to abandon the attack. What would have been the result cannot be told. In all probability the plan was the inspiration of his farsighted milltary genius.

The Washington Post which is an independent and well informed paper is evidently not much of an Anglo-maniac on the Boer question in spite of the fact it is so situated as to be affected by the administration which is commonly supposed to be favorable to England:

It would really appear that our government has sufficieutly explained the position of the Hon. Webster Davis, assistant secretary of the interior, now traveling for his health and pleasure in South Africa. Mr. Davis is on leave. He has no public mission or official status of any kind. He is visiting a particularly interesting part of the world in his capacity as a plain American citizen, which he has a perfect right to do, and the government is not responsible for and need not ecoscern itself with the idle gossip of the European press. Mr. Davis, having visited Cape Town and other points occupied by the British, is now on his way to Pretoria to look at the Boer territory and people. Why not? Certainly it would be a very incomplete inspection were Mr. Davis to content himself with a visit to Cape Town and a British version of the situation. It is very probable that Mr. Davis wants to see things for himself. It is quite conceivable that he prefers his judgement to the calculated falsehoods of Jo Chamberlains pawnbroker press in London. In any event, he need not have gone to South Africa at all if he were willing to let other people do his thinking for him. But there is no reason why Washington should grow hysterical. The case is a very simple one. We have explained three or four times and that is enough.

For our part, we are very glad that Mr. Davis, since he saw fit to go to South Africa at all has made this visit to Pretoria Although the American people have pretty well recovered from the systematic falsehoods of the Rhodes-Chamberlains, and no longer believe that the Boers are vile, dishonest, barbarous and degraded savages those newspapers have represented them as being, it is perhaps just as well that a man of prominence, who enjoys the respect and confidence of country, should acquaint himself with the facts and proclaim them for our benefit and information. There can be no longer a reasonable doubt that the sympathies of the American people are with the Boers. As we see them they are a brave, sturdy, God-fearing liberty-loving people who have been driven to war in defense of their political institutions, their homes, their manhood and their fredom. They are fighting to escape absorbtion and enslavement by England. They deserve our good will, and they have it, in overflowing measure. Even if they were half as slothful and unprogressive as the London pawnbrokers declare, they present to our eyes a more engaging spectacle than do the English who are trying to oppress and loot them. It must be a mighty poor republic which would not have our prayers and sympathies as against any monarchy bent upon extinguishing it.

But we do not believes that the Boers are worthy of freedom and independence. They have proved to our satisfaction that they deserve the privileges for which they are fighting. And we venture to predict that Hon. Webster Davis will, upon his return to the United States, confirm us in these impressions.

"WHITE GOVERNMENT' FLAG.'

Rousing White Supremacy Meeting Held at Rockingham.

Rockingham, N. C., Jan. 24—Tuesday night was a grand occasion with the white people of Rockingham and vicinity. Pursuant to an announcement made a few days previous by posters in every prominent section of the town, the white people assembled in the court house to hear speeches in favor of the constitutional amendment, and open the campaign of 1900. The capacious court room was crowded with people, the best white people of the rich and poor, among them being several hundred ladies. Before the speaking Sheriff Miget and Mr. J. C. Davis flung to the breeze from a staff erected upon the summit of the court-house cupola, a fifteen or twenty feet flag of red and white upon which was inscribed the words, "White Government."

Inside the courthouse immediately ouer the judge's seat, was suspended a white strip of cloth extending entirely across the room, upon which we read these magic words: "The whites will rule the land, or die."

Cameron Morrison, the county chairman of "The White Man's Party," after paying an elegant and fiting tribute to Capt W. F. Everett, called him to the chair. The captain acknowledged the compliment and called Editor Maxwell to act as secretary.

The first speaker introduced was Sheriff Might, as "The Sam Jones of the campaign of 1898" Any attempt to report his speech would be a grand failure, and for this reason, I forbear to make the effort; and failing to report his, we will not attempt to report any we heard. The following speakers followed Sheriff Wright in the order named: Messrs. W. L. Parsons, Geo Warburton, Settle Dockery, John W. LeGrand, Paul Whitlock. All of these gentlemen made most excellent addresses and aroused such spirit of enthusiasm, that, although it was late, hundreds of calls were made for "Cameron Morrison," "Morrison," "Morrison"—Mr. Morrison was in the audience and went up to the speaker; stood amid most enthusiastic and deafening cheering, which lasted for quite awhile. This gallant leader of 1898, who led our forces to a most glorious victory, was at his best, and delivered an address which, for eloquence, force, pathos and argument, I have never heard excelled.

I could take up the address of each one of the different speakers and speak of them in about the same manner.

Your correspondent admired all the speeches, but what impressed him most, was the very large, attentive audience, showing by its size and interest, that old Richmond intends to carry the amendment, I think, without Scotland county, by about 800 majority. There is some opposition, but it readily dissolves when the light is turned on. The general sentiment of our people is, that we are determined to carry the amendment.

The size of the audience was remarkable at the opening of a campaign, and the interest and enthusiasm were no less so. This is truly encouraging, and portends victory, assured in advance and doubly assured by the sentiment which pervaded the vast assembly. That "the whites shall rule the land or die."

THE CORBETT-JEFFRIES FIGHT.

Jeffries Starts for Hot Springs Monday to Begin Training.

New York, Jan. 24—At a meeting today between representatives of James J. Corbett and James J. Jeffries, it was decided to set February 1st as the closing day for the bids by the clubs for the boxing contest between these two men, for the championship of the world. Bids must be made, sealed, to Al Smith, at the Gilsey House, and will not be opened until 6 o'clock on the evening of February 1st The Coney Island Athletic Club, Broadway Club, Utica, Buffalo, and San Francisco clubs will all be active bidders for the bout.

Wm. A. Brady has received a proposition from the Paris Hippodrome, offering a percentage, with a guarantee of 125,000 francs ($25,000) for the contest to take place in Paris during the month of July or August, if it is possible to arrange with the men to postponed until that date. As both Corbett and Jeffries are anxious to have the bout take place on the date set, March 15th, it is probable that the Parisian offer may be overlooked. Jeffries intends, in case of a victory over Corbett, to go to Paris next summer, and take on somebody in that city for the championship. Jeffries will start for Hot Springs next Monday, where he will commence his preliminary work. He will stay there about three weeks and finish up at his old training quarters at Allenhurst, N. J.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows; "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters: and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Marsey Ha san, an Arab fortune teller, was found dead in the water off Coney Island, New York, the body bearing signs of foul play.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphi, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. Kings' New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

Gaining a Wide Reputation.

As a cure for rheumatism Chamberlain's Pain Balm is gaining a wide reputation. D B. Johnston, of Richmond, Ind., has been troubled with that ailment since 1862. In speaking of it he says: "I never found anything that would relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It acts like magic with me. My foot was swollen and pained me very much, but one good application of Pain Balm relieved me. For sale by O. E. Holton, druggist.

The egotist is always good company for himself.

Manager Martin, of the Pierson drug store, informs us that he is having a great run on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He sells five bottles of that medicine to one of any other kind, and it gives great satisfaction. In these days of la grippe there is nothing like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to stop the cough, heal up the sore throat and lungs and give relief in a very short time. The sales are growing and all who try it are pleased with its prompt action.—South Chicago Daily Calumet. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

The modern and most effective cure for constipation and all liver troubles—the famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Howard Gardner.

Crippled by Rheumatism.

Those who have Rheumatism find themselves growing steadily worse all the while. One reason of this is that the remedies prescribed by the doctors contain mercury and potash, which ultimately intensify the disease by causing the joints to swell and stiffen, producing a severe aching of the bones. S. S. S. has been curing Rheumatism for twenty years—even the worst cases which seemed almost incurable.

Capt. O. E. Hughes, the popular railroad conductor, of Columbia, S. C., had an experience with Rheumatism which convinced him that there is only one cure for that painful disease. He says: "I was a great sufferer from muscular Rheumatism for two years. I could get no permanent relief from any medicine prescribed by my physician. I took about a dozen bottles of your S. S. S., and now I am as well as I ever was in my life. I am sure that your medicine cured me, and I would recommend it to any one suffering from any blood disease."

Everybody knows that Rheumatism is a diseased state of the blood, and only a blood remedy is the only proper treatment, but a remedy containing potash and mercury only aggravates the trouble.

S.S.S. For The Blood

being Purely Vegetable, goes direct to the very cause of the disease and a permanent cure always results. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other dangerous minerals.

AN ENCHANTED PITCHER.

The Relic of a Fatality, It Is Preserved by Superstition.

About five miles from Aiken, S. C., on the Charleston dirt road and in sight of the railway, is a little place that was first christened Polecat, but afterward changed to Montmorenci, the French for that odorous little animal. Many years ago a young woman came with her pitcher to draw a bucket of water from a well at Montmorenci and set the vessel in the hollowed top of a stone post that some of the railroad men had moved there. While drawing the water a flash of lightning came that struck the chain to which the well bucket was attached, and the woman was killed in her tracks. Her remains were removed, but the pitcher was left just where the dead girl had set it. To this day the pitcher remains in the same place, and, so far from being removed, it is said that no living hand has ever touched it save its's owner's, although near the side of the public road.

But the most wonderful thing is the superstition attached to the pitcher. There is an indescribable influence surrounding it that prevents its touch. Hundreds of people have gone with the firm determination of lifting the pitcher, but when they approach it a strange repugnance comes over them, and they hurriedly depart without carrying out the object of their visit.

One night a bully in the neighborhood, while under the influence of whisky, made a bet with some friends that he would go and bring back the pitcher. He left to do so, but soon returned as pale as a sheet and empty handed. "Boys," he remarked, "no person alive can lay hands on that pitcher, and I wouldn't attempt it again for the whole of Aiken county."

He refused to tell his experience and said he would not talk about it. Other parties have gone to see it, but met with the same repulsive feelings.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help: but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist. Guaranteed.

"Every married man must ask his wife's permission to make a success." That was a saying of a wise old clergyman who knew that marriage was a partnership in the broadest sense, and that there can be no success in any partnership in which the partners do not contribute equally to make success possible. For this, if for no other reason, every man who is trying to climb the ladder of success should be interested in his wife's health. A healthy woman is always helpful. A tired, nervous woman, depleted in strength and depressed in mind, can contribute neither mentally nor physically to a husband's success.

The remarkable remedy, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, so strengthens the organs peculiarly feminine, dries up debilitating drains, heals ulcerations and inflammations, and cures female trouble, that the causes of ill-health are thus entirely removed, and the healthy, happy wife becomes a genuine help-meet to the husband.

"I was sick for twelve years, and for two years I had to stop work altogether," writes Mrs. Bell McCrobie, of Oakland, Garrett Co., Maryland. "I was treated by five different physicians, who pronounced my case Bright's disease, impoverished condition of the blood, and uterine trouble. I suffered a great deal with pain in both sides and much tenderness in pressing over the womb. I was bloated at times in bowels and limbs. Was troubled with a disagreeable discharge from the internal organs. I could not sleep and was troubled with palpitation of the heart. Suffered a great deal of pain in my head, temples, forehead and eyes, and I also suffered excruciating pain at monthly periods. Since taking eleven bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I have enjoyed better health than I had for more than twelve years previously, and have gained in weight twenty-five pounds since taking your medicines."

Sick women can consult Dr. R. V. Pierce by letter, addressed to Buffalo, N. Y., absolutely without charge. Each letter is read in private, its statements held in sacred confidence, and all answers are mailed, sealed in plain envelopes, without advertising or other printed matter.

It is a good thing to keep Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets in the house. One Pellet is a laxative, two a cathartic dose.

Had Reached Its Weight.

In one of the newspaper composing rooms in this city there is a typesetting machine operator who is a great lover of horse racing. A good share of his wages goes to the bookmakers at the local tracks during the racing season, although for some reason he never acquired the poolroom habit and has always refused to put down a bet unless he was "there to see how the dogs ran." He is fully six feet tall and weighs about 200 pounds. His size suggested a joke to one of his friends during the racing season last summer.

"Going to Sheepshead Bay today?" the friend asked.

"I'd like to, but if I go I won't have much left to bet with."

"I can give you a jockey's badge," said the friend.

"Gimme it," replied the printer, eagerly, never realizing the ridiculous contrast between his size and that of even the heavyweight jockeys. Armed with the jockey's badge, he presented himself at the race track gate and showed his badge. The ticket taker looked at him in astonishment.

"Great Scott!" he finally blurted out, "wot do you ride—the elephant?"

"There's one entered in the fifth race," was the reply. And his nerve so paralyzed the gatekeeper that he was admitted.—New York Sun.

Hot Times.

"I can remember a good many years back," said a Detroit veteran in politics, "and, whatever may be said as to the integrity of our present statesmen, campaigns are conducted in a great deal more moderate tone than they used to be. Then it was the usual thing to indulge in the strongest possible abuse of men and parties.

"I once heard a joint debate between a couple of candidates for our legislature that will serve to illustrate. They taunted and berated each other till all other questions were lost sight of in the popular anxiety to see which excelled in this style of warfare.

"Finally the hotter headed of the two burst out in an announcement that he could whip his rival or any of his friends.

"'That reminds me,' said the other coolly, 'of a dog my father used to have that could whip any dog in the neighborhood or any that came that way with the teamsters.

"'What's the application, sir?' roared the other. 'I'll stand no innuendoes, sir. Make your application, if you dare.'

"'It is simply this, my pugnacious friend—no one ever thought of sending father's dog to the legislature.'

The fire eater remained at home.—Detroit Free Press.

A Beetle That Cuts Metal.

There is no use trying to keep in confinement a curious little creature known as the metal cutting beetle.

Not long ago an entomologist caught one of these beetles and, unaware of its peculiar ability for sawing through anything in its way, put it in a cardboard box. Soon tiring of solitary confinement, or probably thinking its captor had forgotten to provide it with a door, the beetle cut one for itself and crawled out.

It was captured and put in a wooden box, and as soon as the novelty of its new home wore off, again the persevering insect cut a hole in the box and escaped.

The next time the escaped prisoner was caught it was put in a small glass jar with a tight fitting pewter cover punctured to let in air. But the metal cutting beetle from Mexico scorned to live in a pepper box and gnawed a hole big enough to allow it to creep out into the big world again. And this time it was not caught.

Primitive Pipes.

The earliest Indian pipes were simply tubes, in one end of which the tobacco or dried leaves were put. It has been found that the pipes used by the ancient Romans were made on the same plan, the bowl being an invention reserved for a comparatively recent day. It is worthy mentioning incidentally that the cigarette is really an invention of the Indians. They made cigarettes just like those now in use, with wrappers of the thinnest corn husks.

There is a popular notion by the way, that paper used for modern cigarettes is destructive to health and apt to be saturated with drugs. Facts do not warrant this idea, inasmuch as the best cigarette paper is quite harmless, being made out of new linen rags, from the refuse left over in the manufacture of shirts and other linen garments.

There is no such thing as rice paper. What is known as such is the pith of a plant cut in thin slices used by the Chinese for painting pictures.—Science Siftings.

Ireland Called Many Names.

Few countries have suffered so many changes of name as Ireland. In the time of Ptolemy the island was known as Scotia. Diodorus Siculus calls the island Ira, or Irisi, in the "De Mundo," credited by some scholars to Aristotle, it is called Irenne; in the "Argonautica of Orpheus" it appears as Irinus; Strabo calls it Irene; Cæsar, Tacitus and Pliny mention it as Hibernia. Mela called it Juverna. The native names in Celtic are Ir, Eri, or Erin. Plutarch mentions it under the name of Ogygia. The name Ireland is no doubt derived from the native Ir or Eri, but when it came into general use is a question concerning which scholars are much at variance.

Humiliating a Rival.

It is not a mooted question in Persia whether women dress for the eyes of men or those of women, as there only women see women, at parties. In her book, "Through Persia on a Sidesaddle," Miss Sykes, writing of the women of Teheran, the capital of Persia, confesses that even Mohammedan isolation does not prevent women from being envious of other women, if they are dressed better than themselves. She writes:

I was told that many of the fine ladies would give large sums in the European shops of Teheran for any brocade of silk which struck their fancy and would wear it at the next party to which they invited their friends, flaunting the new toilet ostentatiously before them to fire their jealousy.

Usually, however, one of the guests would pay her hostess out by buying some more of the same material and having it made up for one of her slave women. She then would invite a large company to tea, and the cups would be handed round by a negress adorned in the rich silks with which the former hostess is arrayed.

Later on the slave would dance before the guests. The great lady, who had been invited to be mortified, would be both disappointed and humiliated. The lady who had given the party would be pleased at vexing the rival.

Food In Siberia.

So hard is food frozen in Siberia during the winter that carcasses of sheep can only be divided by ax and saw. Fish caught through holes in the ice freeze while they jump. Eggs are as hard as flints. I have carried them in a sack over my horse's back.

The rivers of Siberia abound with excellent fish, among these a beautiful kind of grayling and the incomparable sterlet, quite the most delicious fish I know. While descending the Yenisei we caught a gigantic sturgeon, yielding many poods of coarse black caviare, a dainty highly esteemed. Sturgeon cutlets, with wild chervil for flavoring, are delicious. Quails and dabchicks are a favorite broil for second breakfast. The bread I found dark, hard and sour, but sustaining. A great deal of vodki is drunk, but it is both perilous and nauseous on account of the fusel oil it contains. Kwass in summer time is refreshingly acid, and, drunk from a small oaken bowl, it is better than cider.

Tea is taken at every meal, but is very weak. Brick tea is detestable. The stamped bricks are used as money till they are worn and dirty. They are then made into a kind of broth. All sorts of abominations are flung into it. The Khirgis have an insatiable appetite for brew "thick and slab," impossible to western palates.

Helen Irving's Tragic Death.

The tragic story of the beautiful and talented Scottish woman, Helen Irving, is not, perhaps, well known, although it has been celebrated in song. She had been for some time courted by two gentlemen whose names were Bell and Fleeming. Bell told the girl that if he ever found her in Fleeming's company he would kill him. She, however, had a strong regard for Fleeming, and one day, while walking along the romantic banks of the Kirtle, she observed his rival on the other side of the river among the bushes.

Conscious of the danger her lover was in, she passed between him and his enemy, who, firing, shot her dead. Fleeming crossed the river and killed the coward. A heap of stones was raised on the place where the brave woman fell, and she was buried in the near churchyard. Fleeming, overwhelmed with love and grief, went abroad, but soon returned and, stretching himself on her grave, expired. He was buried by her side.

A Lucky Hairdresser.

The old saying that a man may be a hero to every one but his valet is called to mind by an article in The Illustrated London News on "Famous Masters of the Tonsorial Art," in which stories are told of Duplan, the hairdresser to Napoleon. This astute man made himself so indispensable to the unfortunate Josephine and became so intimately acquainted with the emperor's affairs that he was retained in the service of the imperial family when Josephine was superseded by Marie Louise. He cared for the hair of both the emperor and empress, being paid 4,000 francs a year for service to the former and 6,000 for arranging the coiffures of the latter. Ultimately he was the recipient of about 40,000 francs a year, his demands being constantly increased because of Napoleon's restriction in refusing to allow the tonsorial artist to treat the hair of any other customer.

Gazelle Hunting.

Gazelles in Nubia are hunted by a powerful breed of hounds, in build somewhat heavier than a greyhound. In spite of being far swifter than the hound, the gazelle falls a victim from the nervous habit of constantly stopping to look back to see if it is pursued. It also expends its strength by taking great bounds in an almost vertical direction, thereby not only losing time, but exhausting itself, so that it is overtaken without difficulty.—Harper's Weekly.

Torpedo Boats.

The average distance of discovery of a torpedo boat by the searchlight from a battleship has been calculated to be 781 yards and the greatest distance 2,000 yards. Thus, taking the distance at which the torpedo can be fired with effect at 500 yards it will be generally found that a torpedo boat will have to cross about 300 yards under fire from the ship she is attacking, and it will take the little craft about half a minute to do this.

Gallant.

"A man is as old as he feels," said the gentleman of the old school, "and a woman as old as she says she is."—Indianapolis Journal.

He Only Repeats What has been Around th World.

It has been demonstrated repeatedly in every state in the union and in many foreign countries that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain preventive and cure for croup. It has become the universal remedy for that disease. M. V. Fisher, of Liberty, W. Va., only repeats what his been said around the globe when he writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for several years and always with perfect success. We believe that it is not only the best cough remedy, but that it is a sure cure for croup. It has saved the lives of our children a number of times." This remedy is for sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

Wine of Cardui

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the feminine organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps do away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth; recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has many years of success behind it. It is sure. Why take a chance medicine when you can get a sure medicine?

J. I. Bevry, Logansport, Pa., writes: I am willing to take my oath I that was cured of pneumonia entirely by the use of One Minute Cough Cure entirely after doctors failed. It also cured my children of whooping cough." Quickly relieves and cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe and throat and lung troubles. Children all like it. Mothers endorse it. Howard Gardner.

This twentieth century discussion brings to light the fact that there are some people so fond of killing time that they are willing to lop off a whole year.

C. E. Holton, druggist, guarantees every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and will refund the money to any one who is not satisfied after using two-thirds of the contents. This is the best remedy in the world for la grippe, coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough and is pleasant and safe to take. It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia.

Keep your feet dry. Shoe bills are cheaper than doctors' bills. We can fit you and any of your family in good reliable shoes at very moderate prices. It is no use for us to quote prices, because telling you the price does not convey any idea to you unless you can see the shoes. But we have too many shoes on hand in several lines and if you will take the trouble to give us a look we can convince you that we are willing to give you a great deal of shoe value for a very small amount of money, whether we get a profit on the shoes or not.

HAPPINESS AND SORROW.

But Such is Life—A Marriage and a Death—A Fish Story That's True.

TELEGRAM BUREAU,
HIGH POINT, Jan. 25.

Miss Marium White, aged about 72 years, died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, of dropsy, at her home about three miles from here. The funeral services were conducted at Springfield meeting-house this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the remains interred in the cemetery there. Some of our local sports have been trying their luck this week along the banks of streams.

N E Allred, who went to Oakdale factory, at Jamestown, to try his luck at fishing, tells us of a huge carp he saw while there. It measured two and a half feet long and more than likely weighed 20 pounds. The scales on it were about 1½ inches in width. The monster was found on the bank and was in a state of decomposition or it would have been weighed. It is supposed that after the ice on the pond began to thaw in places the fish jumped through a hole and flopped around on top of the ice until it reached the bank where it froze to death. This is a true fish story.

Messrs. R. F. Cable and E. D McCallum, two of Concord's citizens were here last night.

WEDDING BELLS.

Two lovers plighted their troth at 8 o'clock last night in the Baptist church. Mr. Wm. W. Snider and Miss Mattie Lou Lovelace, both of this city. Rev. Dr. J. B. Richardson was the officiating minister.

When the hour for the ceremony was at hand th church was one seething mass of humanity and many that could not be accommodated to even standing room had to return home disappointed but wiser. The ushers were Messrs. Covington, McLead, Grissom and Lovelace, who preceded the bride and groom on their way to the altar.

The wedding march was beautifully rendered by an orchestra composed of Messrs. H. A. Bregham and L. J. Peacock and Misses Bodenheimer.

The church was tastifully decorated for the occasion.

The bride is a pretty young lady of sweet disposition and has many friends here and elsewhere.

The groom is a young man of good character and is liked by all who know him. He is in charge of one of the finishing departments at Snow Lumber Co.

The young couple have the best wishes of all of their friends in their walk through life.

THE SMALLPOX SITUATION.

No New Cases and the Situation Satisfactory.

Mayor Z. V. Taylor, realizing that the citizens of Greensboro are concerned over the presence of smallpox here, has asked the health authorities to furnish a statement of the existing conditions for the public. These statements are to be made daily, and in order that they may not be regarded in the light of mere rumors, the mayor has requested that affidavits be made to each statement.

Following appears the statement of Dr. R. L. Rierson, the health officer, giving the situation for today:

To Z. V. Taylor, Mayor:

I hereby report the following as the condition of the smallpox cases today:

Number of cases in hospital today.	13
Number of cases discharged today..	1
Number of new cases today.....	0

Open and Above-board.

Some one has made the remark that the newspapers of Greensboro had to much to say about the smallpox. The very fact that everything has been open and aboveboard in the matter is evidence that the people have confidence in the authorities who have the matter in charge and are going along quietly attending to their business.

Engine Derailed.

Last night about 10 o'clock a shifting engine ran into some cars on the side track near the turn table. The cause of the accident was due to a misplaced switch. The engine was derailed but was gotten back on the track in half an hour. The damage to the cars was very slight.

A family of colored people which had been quarantined in Warrensville, sent word to Chief Scott that they were nearly starved. The chief 'phoned to Commissioner Boren for instructions. A Smallpox Scare.

A scare was created here yesterday by the report that there was a case of smallpox at the A. & M. college.

Immediately physicians were sent for and examination of the sick student, (a young man named Dixon) showed that he had a slight breaking out, but it was declared measles and not smallpox. This is the second case of measles in the college.

Young Dixon was vaccinated twelve days ago and still has a sore arm. There is no smallpox.—Raleigh News and Observer.
